ㅔㅔ DATA FOR PROGRESS

From May 12 to 13, 2023, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1,191 likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, geography, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is $\pm 3$ percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than $50(<50)$ are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display $\mathrm{N}<50$ subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.
$\mathrm{N}=1,191$ unless otherwise specified.
[1] Due to the pandemic, President Trump paused payments on federally-held student loans and President Biden extended this pause. The Biden administration also announced a plan to provide up to $$ 20,000$ in student loan debt relief for low-income and working-class student loan borrowers before loan payments were set to resume.

Some experts believe the Supreme Court will strike down the Biden administration's student debt relief plan in a ruling this summer. The current pause on student loan payments is set to end 60 days after the Supreme Court issues a ruling, but can be extended again.

If the Supreme Court strikes down the plan, would you support or oppose another extension of the pause on student loan payments until the end of 2024? ( $N=591$ )
